

Access Supra® Lockboxes with Scheduling App

Showing management tool, powered by BrokerBay, provides built-in listing access

Supra now offers integrated functionality that enables real estate agents to access Supra iBox lockboxes from within the BrokerBay™ scheduling app. This enables a streamlined experience for real estate agents and their clients. By simply using their existing Supra eKEY PIN, showing agents can use the scheduling app to open the Supra lockbox, and listing agents can open the lockbox and release the shackle to place and remove lockboxes.

More time to focus on clients

The BrokerBay app, with built-in Supra lockbox access, provides a convenient solution for showing management and seamless property access through a modern and intuitive user experience. Your Supra key is right at your fingertips inside the scheduling app.

Direct access for agents on the go

Supra is the leader in access technology for real estate home showings, enabling over 70 percent of all listing accesses via networked electronic lockboxes with 45+ million accesses annually*. This is the only solution in the industry that enables direct access to the most widely used lockboxes from within an established – and rapidly growing – scheduling app.

Note: Users must download and subscribe to both the BrokerBay app/service and the Supra eKEY app to have this functionality. The eKEY app will still function as a separate app used for key management. The services are provided through Multiple Listing Service (MLS) organizations and local real estate associations to their member agents.

*Based on publicly available statistics and Supra-recorded data of lockbox openings via the Supra eKEY app in the U.S. and Canada from 2019 through 2022.

suprasystems.com

800-547-0252

©2023 Carrier. All Rights Reserved.

All trademarks and service marks referred herein are property of their respective owners. Ref. WF4103 - 07/2023

By simply using their existing Supra eKEY PIN, showing agents can use the scheduling app to open Supra lockboxes.

Comprehensive solution

As Supra and BrokerBay continue to integrate their technologies, this is the first step towards a fully comprehensive solution that will offer a one-stop shop for real estate professionals, combining scheduling and access management in an intuitive, convenient showing experience to empower agents, reduce workload and provide actionable analytics.

